GETTING READY FOR A LONG TRIP

1. Get your car properly checked by a good garage for fitness before you start on a trip.
2. Get the car lubricated (serviced) before the trip.
3. Get the engine tuned (including complete overhaul of carburettor and distributor, plugs and tappet setting) for trouble-free motoring.
4. Get the battery and cables properly checked. It is better to have a new battery than taking a risk with a doubtful or old one. Dirty cable connections or broken cable strands are responsible for hard starting.
5. Check fuel system for clogged or leaky pipes.
6. Get the dynamo charging rate adjusted (preferably a little lower than for normal town running), as overcharging burns out the armature, necessitating hasty and expensive replacement on the road. If the dynamo has not been overhauled for the last 15,000 kilometres, it would be advisable to get it overhauled to prevent failure of bushing and bearing on the way.
7. Clean the cleaners — the air cleaner, the breather cap, the fuel pump sediment bowl and strainer, and the fuel filter.
8. Check the oil and oil filter — replace if necessary. Carry extra can of oil in the trunk.
9. Hose pipes wear out on the inside. Pinch the pipes; replace if they feel spongy. Check clamps for tightness. It is advisable to carry spare hose pipes, and a tinful of water.
10. Get the brakes and clutch adjusted if necessary.
11. Get the wheel alignment checked and adjusted properly to have a better feel of the car and to reduce tyre wear.
12. Get the tyres checked. Make sure the spare is in good condition and properly inflated.
13. Ensure you have the following equipment with you on the trip:—

    A spare wheel pumped to the correct pressure. Tyre lever, puncture kit and pump. Jack/wheel brace.

    Spares: bulbs for lights, fuses for electrical system, fan belt, radiator hose, kits for fuel pump, water pump and distributor.

    Your car's set of tools (even if you are not a handy man, those who stop to help in an emergency would be more effective with proper tools).

    Your vehicle instruction book. First-aid kit. Torch. A piece of soap — soap temporarily helps stop leaks in petrol tanks. Tow rope and spade.
